There is a trend of ^{opp.} decreasing the number of people attending museums and galleries. In this report I'll try to analyze the data and I will give some recommendations how to increase people's attendance of museums and galleries.

First of all, let's appeal to the giving table. As we can see, ⁵⁰ ~~the~~ British Museum did a lot of substantial changes in the way of attracting people. Annual attendance in 2013 was 2.6 mln. Two years later this number increased in 2 times becoming 5.1 mln.

~~The~~ National Gallery did the same as ^{the} British Museum. From 2.7 mln of people to 4.3 mln. ⁵⁰ I can respectively mention that it's ^{mult.} an impressive result.

In spite of increasing people's attendance every year ~~the~~ Tate Gallery still can't compete with ^{the} British Museum and ^{the} National Gallery. Drawing on the experience of other museums in the world ^{mult.} I'd advise ~~the~~ Tate Gallery to organize free guide's tours on holiday ⁵⁰ or for a school's group.

According to the data, ^{the} National History Museum and ^{the} Science Museum lost public's attention and now has ^{opp.} decreased ^{up} number of people attending their museums. There are several steps how to restore their previous rates of people's attendance: they can lower admission charges or organize free ~~to~~ ⁵⁰ excursions for senior citizens, students and children.

In conclusion, I'd like to say that ~~the~~ English Museums and Galleries are highly attended by people. I tried to give some recommendations to the museum boards of directors.
